The Most Expensive Miles That a Motor Car Can Travel

You, Mr. Motorist, will drive a lot of miles in the next six month—far more than you have been driving during the winter. Is your car fully prepared for the increased mileage of the outdoor season? Will you enjoy economical, safe, pleasant motoring?

Any automobile service man will tell you that a high percentage of the cars in operation today need service, and sooner or later will break down at inconvenient, if not dangerous times and places. Their owners are paying much more than is necessary for a mile of travel.

Because your car will run doesn't mean that it is in perfect mechanical condition. If it has not been inspected, tested and conditioned for summer driving you are going to have trouble no matter how smoothly it now appears to be running.

Service is our specialty. We would rather do an inexpensive, preventive service job than make the major repairs and replacements that result from a breakdown or an accident.

It will cost you little to KEEP your car up to par. It may cost you much to neglect it. Drive in and be sure.
